

WOMEN'S INFORMATION SITES – GENERAL

Even more good places to check out for information

Isis

<http://www.isis.aust.com/>

This website provides forums, directories, speakouts and web documentaries on a number of issues relevant to Australian Women, including domestic violence. It also provides webspace for a number of Australian Women's Organisations and has a link to the Australian Women's Intra Network.

National Women's Justice Coalition

<http://www.nwjc.org.au>

The National Women's Justice Coalition promotes women's equality before the law by raising awareness, networking, lobbying and advocating. The website provides links to current issues, the NWJC reading room, information on a variety of topics and a link to an overview of the activities of Australian Women's Non Government Organisations.

The United Nations Division for the Advancement of Women

<http://www.undp.org/fwcw/daw.htm>

This website provides info on what the Division for the Advancement of Women is and what it does. The Division is responsible for servicing the Commission on the Status of Women, the main UN policymaking body for women and the committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women. Official documents relating to the Fourth World Conference on Women can be found at:

<http://www.undp.org/fwcw/fwcw2.htm>

Australian Human Rights Information Centre

<http://www.austlii.edu.au/au/other/ahric>

This site has sections on women's human rights, rights of the child and Indigenous rights. There are also links to information from the Convention of the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women and the Convention on the Political Rights of Women and also a link to the Australian Journal of Human Rights.

Womensnet

<http://www.womens.net.au/>

Womensnet provides access to women using computer networks for information sharing, broadcast and collaboration. The site provides a network of newsgroups, conferences and weblinks to Australian sites of interest to women. Topic areas for these weblinks include women and the media, women and work, women's organisations, health and gender related issues.

Aviva

<http://www.aviva.org>

Aviva is a free webzine, run by an international group of women based in London. The site provides links to current women's issues and news for a selection of countries, including Australia. There are also links to resources, groups and action alerts.

Womensnet

<http://www.igc.org/igc/>

Womensnet provides an issues directory that has links to a wide range of topics including activism for women, economics and women, feminist directories, social justice, violence against women and women of colour.

AUESFM-POLNET

<http://www.utas.edu.au/docs/humsoc/cpmp/ES6.html>

This is the website supporting AUFEM-POLNET, an electronic network for activists, practitioners and scholars who are actively involved with policies which aim to improve the status of women. The website includes information on how to subscribe to Ausfem Polnet mailing list.

Women's Resources on the Internet

<http://www.sunsite.unc.edu/cheryb/women>

Lists of places to go to find women's health resources. Points to other women related resources on the net.

Femina

<http://femina.cybergrrl.com/>

Femina is your guide to the web for, by and about women. Provides links to a women's studies database which has a gender issues category and bibliographies on a wide range of topics.

Feminist Directory of Resources

<http://feminist.com>

Information from non-profit organisations and links to women's sites all over the internet. Includes information on health, violence, politics, children and more.

Encyclopaedia of Famous Women

<http://www.teleport.com/~megaines/women.html>

This site is a web encyclopaedia on Women's History written by K-12 school students. You are able to read the bibliographies as well as add your own work.

Women's Biographies

<http://www.netsrq.com/~dbois>

This site is titled Distinguished Women of the Past and Present and contains biographies of women who have contributed to society in many different ways. The list includes writers, educators, scientists, and heads of state, politicians, civil rights crusaders, artists and entertainers from a number of countries.